

MORE ABOUT US

Now, then and snapshots of some bits in between. . .

Now. . .

This is Us--a selfie that I took recently (March 2023)--we're a bit older than that handsome 1988 pair, but who cares? What a great life we've had living in this wonderful place and making some lifelong friends among our many guests who have shared our home through the years--happy we've made it this far--and can still share a laugh and a smile!

Here's a snapshot of Red House Farm when we were looking to buy it in 1987. The house and farm buildings were quite run-down and dilapidated and crying out for someone to care for them. If you look at our website, you'll see how we have spent the years (and the ££££!) until now. Better still, come stay with us and see firsthand how we've spent those years--share our way of life by visiting Red House Farm yourselves.

Then. . .

Tom and Sandra in August 1988.

and some of our favourite furry and feathered friends. . .*

*I'll try to get around to adding some more text and images soon, but until then, please have a look at the images on our website to find out more about NOW .
. . Even better, come see us and send us some of your own snaps. . . .meanwhile, I've got to get back to work--helping to get everything ready for your visit!*
